The book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 4th International Conference on Distributed Computing in Sensor Systems, DCOSS 2008, held on Santorini Island, Greece, in June 2008. The 29 revised full papers and 12 revised short papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 116 submissions.

Distributed Computing in Sensor Systems | SpringerLink

The book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Second International Conference on Distributed Computing in Sensor Systems, DCOSS 2006, held in San Francisco, California, USA in June 2006. The 33 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 87 submissions.

Distributed algorithms are an established tool for designing protocols for sensor networks. In this article we discuss the relation between distributed computing theory and sensor network applications. Along the way, we present a few basic and illustrative distributed algorithms.

computing applications. Figure 1 shows a schematic representation of our dis-tributed computing platform consisting of N GPCs. One of them is confi-gured to be the master and controls and per-forms the location estimation. Each GPC is equipped with audio sensors (microphones), actuators (loudspeakers), and wireless communication capabilities.

Proc. IEEE International Conference on Distributed

The conference is intended to cover several aspects of distributed computing in sensor systems such as high level abstractions and models, systematic design methodologies, signal and information processing, algorithms, analysis and applications.

DCOSS 2019 - Home

This is a list of distributed computing and grid computing projects. For each project, donors volunteer computing time from personal computers to a specific cause. The donated computing power comes typically from CPUs and GPUs, but can also come from home video game systems. Each project seeks to solve a problem which is difficult or infeasible to tackle using other methods.

Networking & Distributed Computing The world renowned networking group at OSU has made fundamental breakthroughs in the theory and practice of communication networks. The research in our group spans across a multitude of different types of networks, from wireless and wireline networks to social and cyber-physical networks.
