The history of science in early cultures refers to the study of protoscience in ancient history, prior to the development of science in the Middle Ages. In prehistoric times, advice and knowledge was passed from generation to generation in an oral tradition. The development of writing enabled knowledge to be stored and communicated across generations with much greater fidelity.

Horus. Horus was the ancient Egyptian sky god who was usually depicted as a falcon, most likely a lanner or peregrine falcon. His right eye was associated with the sun god, Ra. The eye symbol represents the marking around the eye of the falcon, including the "teardrop" marking sometimes found below the eye. The mirror image, or left eye, sometimes represented the moon and the god Djehuti ( ).

By its name, the mixed research design is the combination of the two opposite methods, qualitative and quantitative research methods. This research method emerged as a third methodological movement in educational research as an attempt to go beyond the quantitative versus qualitative arguments (Teddlie & Tashakkori, 2003).
